

Social and Personal.

THE dates of the Card Tournament to be held by the Women's Club throughout the fall and winter are as follows:

October 22, November 26, December 17, January 28, February 26, April 1, April 23, May 27.

This club has been in existence for about four years, and is composed of some of the best card players in Richmond. The privilege of asking a gentleman partner enables the husbands of these ladies to attend these most enjoyable functions. Bridge and what will be played on alternate evenings.

Perin-Anderson.

Friends of Nelson E. Perin, of Richmond, will be interested in his marriage, which took place Wednesday afternoon in New York, to Miss Rebecca Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Anderson, of Cincinnati. The ceremony was performed very quietly at Trinity Episcopal Church as the bride is in deep mourning. None of Mr. Perin's family was present, but a friend of his, John Pickett, of New York, was one of the witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Perin are now in New York. After a wedding trip they will go to Berkeley Springs, W. Va., where Mr. Perin is engaged in business.

Mr. Perin is the son of the late Nelson Perin. He is a member of the Paint and Powder Club and formerly appeared in one of the shows put on by that organization.

Minor-Flippin.

Invitations have been received in Richmond from Mr. and Mrs. Philip Flippin to the marriage of their daughter, Helen Oliver, to George Gilmer Minor, Jr., of this city, the wedding to be celebrated Thursday, October 28, in All Saints' Church, Cumberland, Va., at 6 P. M.

After December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Minor will be at 1023 Grove Avenue.

Return From Atlantic City.

Mrs. James Hayes and her daughter, Mrs. Mattiasen, have returned to the city after spending the summer at Atlantic City and part of the fall with Mr. John H. Wright at her country place in the Green Spring Valley. Mrs. Mattiasen will leave next week to join her husband in Brunswick, Ga., where they expect to make their home.

Leaves for Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Scott, of 8 East Cary Street, left last Thursday evening for Charleston, S. C., where he has received an appointment in the United States naval service at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are now in the service at that place. Mr. Scott is an alumnus of Richmond College, and during the three years as President of the college's secretariat, Mr. Scott's friends regret his departure, but will rejoice to know of his promotion.

Dinner Party.

A beautiful dinner was given in honor of Miss Alice C. Overby, of Boynton, Va., on Thursday evening by her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Thomson, of West Chester, Pa. Miss Overby's beautiful country place, "Meadowcroft," in the suburbs of Philadelphia, and has been much feted and entertained.

The hostess, Mrs. Thomson, is one of the most accomplished women in Pennsylvania, and her entertainments are among the most elaborate functions of the Philadelphia social season.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson will close their country house next week and go to Mecklenburg County, where they will spend the winter.

Lundin-Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rice have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Mary Louise, to John Lundin, of their country home, Marlboro, Chesterfield County, Va., Tuesday, October 19. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lundin will leave for an extended tour of the Northern States and Canada.

Mr. Lundin is one of the rising young business men of Richmond. Miss Rice is a very attractive young woman, of marked musical ability. They are graduates of the Richmond Conservatory of Music.

Home Wedding.

A lovely home wedding was celebrated on the evening of October 14, at the East End Baptist Church, when Miss Fannie Leo Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ford, became the bride of Henry Eugene Smith, the Rev. Mr. Dorsett, of Leigh Street Baptist Church.

The bride entered the church with her sister, Miss Edna Ford, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Emmet Smith, brother of the groom. The bride was given away by her father, who wore a suit with hat and gloves to match. The maid of honor was in white over corn-colored silk, and carried a large bouquet of carnations. The ushers were: Messrs. Cornell, Palmer, Lincoln, and Wade.

Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple left for a trip to Washington, Buffalo, New York, Niagara and Canada. After their return they will be at home to their friends at 224 North Thirty-second Street.

Wedding-Strain.

The engagement of Miss Linda Swain to Walter W. Waddill, Jr., both of Danville, was announced at a delightful luncheon given last week by Miss Hattie Bohnett at her home in that city. The dining-room was tastefully decorated in yellow and white.

The wedding will take place in Danville some time in November. The bride is the daughter of Mr. L. Swain.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Pearl Graham Crump to John Edward Fowler is announced, the wedding to take place in December at the Second Baptist Church.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

On the evening of October 13 a pleasant surprise party was tendered Miss Marie Daly at 610 North Twenty-first Street. Although a surprise, the guests in attendance made the occasion one of great merit for those assembled, and the evening was most enjoyable. An elegant repast followed.

Those participating in the entertainment were Misses Beatrice Jarvis, Nellie Jarvis, Mary, Margaret Taylor, Agatha Fisher, Hazel Howard, Laville Jones, and Stasia Homan; Mrs. John O'Grady, Jr., Henry O'Grady, John O'Grady, Jr., John Fletcher, Fred Fletcher, Edward Sinitoff, Theodore Francis, Jr., Floyd Jarvis, John Smith,

Dorothy Dodd
"Dorothy Dodd" quality and price are best appreciated through personal experience. Quality high, price low. Let a trial convince you.
F. W. Dabney & Co.,
301 East Broad Street,
RICHMOND, VA.

Linwood Capell, Charlie O'Donnell, Michaela Carlton, Archie Evans, Mothers' Club to meet.

The Brook Avenue Kindergarten Mothers' Club will meet at the schoolroom, 715 Brook Avenue, this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

In and Out of Town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Caslake Cabell have moved into their new home, 933 Floyd Avenue, where they will be for the winter.

Mrs. William A. Borg and her sister, Miss Louise Borg, left Friday noon for New York City.

Colonel John D. H. Ross, who spent last week here as the guest of his brother, Judge Ross, of Virginia, and California, is visiting in Lexington, returned to his home in Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Risner have had as their guests for the past ten days Mr. and Mrs. Louis Coykendall, of New York.

Colonel Richard Coke Marshall, Sr., and Mrs. M. L. Marshall, who have been traveling abroad, are expected to return this week.

Mrs. Anne Sergeant, of Lowell, Mass., and Mrs. Fannie Richardson, of this city, are the guests of Mrs. William A. Kinnear in Lexington.

Mrs. William C. Preston and Miss Sally Preston, of Lexington, accompanied by Liburn T. Myers, of this city, left last Friday for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Logan Golsan, whose wedding took place this summer, are now in Richmond, and have taken the Perkins home, on West Franklin Street, for the winter.

James W. Graves spent the week-end as a guest at "Mooreland," near Orange, Va.

Mrs. Louis K. Walk, of Lexington, is visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Greener and her daughter, Miss Virginia Greener, of Chilhowie, Va., are the guests of Miss Kate Wheeler in Bristol.

Miss Goldsborough, of Leesburg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Llewellyn McVeigh.

Miss Linda Caruthers, of Round Hill, is in Richmond for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashton Starke have returned from Europe and opened their home on West Franklin Street for the winter.

Mrs. C. Shirley Carter, of Washington, is the guest of her son, C. Shirley Carter, at "Belle Grove."

Mrs. Barton Wise, who has been traveling abroad for several months, has returned to Richmond.

Miss Mary Alston Mosely has returned to the city after a delightful stay in Atlanta.

Mrs. Harry White, of Wachapreague, is visiting her parents in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Glinn, who have been the guests of friends here, have returned to their home in Charlottesville.

Miss Irene Owens has returned to her home in Newport News after a visit of one week to friends in the city.

Miss Pfaff is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ewens, in Newport News.

Mrs. John Newport Greene and Miss Urth Greene, who have been visiting friends in the city, have returned to Norfolk.

Mrs. M. O. Anderson, who has been visiting friends at White Stone for several weeks, arrived in Richmond last week to spend the winter here.

Answers to Correspondents

For the benefit of women in the city, the State and other States, a daily column is hereby opened, and daily columns are desired to send communications on subjects in which they are interested and regarding which they desire information, to the Editor of the "Woman's Page," who will treat them with full consideration and give them prompt answers.

Civil Society.

Will you kindly give me a few suggestions as to organizing a civil society for a small town?

I am not up on this in any way, and should appreciate full particulars and remarks in regard to same. B. M. Tarboro, N. C.

The purpose of a civil society is to unite the efforts of good citizens along the line of improvements calculated to do the greatest good to the greatest number, in a non-partisan and non-sectarian organization. The civil society of Richmond works under the name of the Civil Improvement League. Its officers are a president, first and second and vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer. It has committees on ways and means, press, and public meetings, on membership and organization, on legislation, on open-air playgrounds, and free bath, civic cleaning, public sanitation, on flowers and tree planting, on parks and monuments, and on marking historic spots. In illustration of what women may accomplish by means of civic organizations attention is called to the work of the Civil League in Dallas, Texas, where, as its chairman reported, it was directly instrumental in the raising of money, building of new schools, and planting of trees. When the State Federation of Women's Clubs was to meet in Dallas, the City Council having refused to act, the league hired wagons for the cleaning of streets, and had fences whitewashed. The good roads question, now agitating the South, offers a fine outlet for the energies of a civil society.

Wedding Etiquette.

1. What are a bride's expenses for a church wedding, and what falls to the groom's share?
2. How should the opening and lighting of the church be insured?
3. If one knows only a gentleman or his wife, should an invitation be addressed to both?

Richmond.
Modern American wedding etiquette has decreed that a bridegroom is not allowed to furnish anything for his own wedding but the ring and a house-keeping for the bride, presents for the bridesmaids and the best man, and some tokens to the ushers. He pays the clergyman's fee, of course, but not for the wedding cards, not for the carriages, except the one in which he and the best man go to church, and sometimes the one in which he and his bride begin the honeymoon trip; not for the entertainment or anything connected with the wedding. All this is the province of the family of the bride.

2. By arranging with the church official who has charge of looking after such matters, the organist and the sexton.
3. To both.

Black Work.

I have an order from a Northern pattern for a dress made in old-fashioned black-work. I have a vague idea that the work is in alternate squares of heavy and light, but I wish more definite instruction. Can you give them to me? L. B. M.

Will you give me some needlemaking instructions? I am required to write full description of same to Editor of Woman's Page.

For Afternoon Tea.

What is the correct dress for a hostess and visitor at afternoon tea?
M. S. D.

The hostess generally wears a very high-necked gown, low-cut dresses being reserved for dinner and evening wear. For visiting at afternoon teas, no change is made from the ordinary walking dress, except that the three

Could a young lady, with propriety, buy tickets and take a young man to the theatre?
S. W. R.

Yes, if her mother or another older woman friend would go with her. Even then the mother or friend should write the note of invitation.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

or four ladies who help receive, come in handmaiden reception dresses.

Lady Baltimore Cake.

Will you please give me a recipe for Lady Baltimore cake, the original and famous one used by the Woman's Exchange of Charleston, S. C., if you have it?

This is said to be a successful recipe, and one furnished by a South Carolina housewife:

Two-thirds of a cup of butter, five eggs, two cups of sugar, four cups of flour, one level teaspoon of soda, cream half the sugar with the butter, beat the remaining sugar into the yolks of the eggs, and sift the cream of tartar and the soda twice through the flour; beat the eggs and sugar together with the butter and sugar, add the milk slowly, and finally beat in the flour and stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Flavor with vanilla, mix with rose and, into the other half, beat one teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, one teaspoonful of powdered cloves, one grated nutmeg and flavor with vanilla, lemon or almond. Bake in four layers, each line, two white layers and two spiced layers.

For the Filling.

Cut one cupful of seeded raisins, shred thin half a citron, grate one small coconut and blanch three-fourths of a pound of almonds. Make an ordinary boiled icing, and into it beat all these ingredients save the almonds. Put the mixture thickly between the layers, and fill the top layer with almonds stuck in porcupine-wise. The measuring cups are ordinary coffee cups filled just level.

Silver Wedding Dress.

What is a suitable dress to be worn by a woman celebrating her twenty-fifth anniversary?
S. T. W.

She may wear anything except black. A silver gray, trimmed with steel and lace, handsome, and combinations of velvet, chiffon and hand-embroidery becoming to the majority of matrons.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

TWAIN'S DAUGHTER MADE DEFENDANT?

She Is Said to Have Been Sued for Alienation of Affections.

NEW YORK, October 17.—Daphne Gabrieli, the Russian pianist, who recently married Miss Clara Clemens, daughter of Mark Twain, has been sued by Mrs. Charles E. Wark for alienation of affections.

This is said to be a successful recipe, and one furnished by a South Carolina housewife:

Two-thirds of a cup of butter, five eggs, two cups of sugar, four cups of flour, one level teaspoon of soda, cream half the sugar with the butter, beat the remaining sugar into the yolks of the eggs, and sift the cream of tartar and the soda twice through the flour; beat the eggs and sugar together with the butter and sugar, add the milk slowly, and finally beat in the flour and stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Flavor with vanilla, mix with rose and, into the other half, beat one teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, one teaspoonful of powdered cloves, one grated nutmeg and flavor with vanilla, lemon or almond. Bake in four layers, each line, two white layers and two spiced layers.

For the Filling.

Cut one cupful of seeded raisins, shred thin half a citron, grate one small coconut and blanch three-fourths of a pound of almonds. Make an ordinary boiled icing, and into it beat all these ingredients save the almonds. Put the mixture thickly between the layers, and fill the top layer with almonds stuck in porcupine-wise. The measuring cups are ordinary coffee cups filled just level.

Silver Wedding Dress.

What is a suitable dress to be worn by a woman celebrating her twenty-fifth anniversary?
S. T. W.

She may wear anything except black. A silver gray, trimmed with steel and lace, handsome, and combinations of velvet, chiffon and hand-embroidery becoming to the majority of matrons.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon reception?
H. D. M.

The two resemble each other closely and sometimes it is hard to draw the line between them. An afternoon reception is more formal, a tea, an addition to the ever-popular tea, bouillon, an ice or frappe may be served following oysters and salads. Five o'clock teas should be true to their name, nor should any other refreshment be offered than tea, bread and butter, tea cakes and wafers.

What the Difference Is.

What is the difference, if any, between a 5 o'clock tea and an afternoon